RULES FOR BAGATELLE GAME

1. Game consists of eight white balls and one red ball and the red ball must be spotted. Eight white balls must be behind the dead-line.
2. Persons shooting must hit the red ball first until red ball is off the table. Then shooter can shoot at any ball between bridge and dead-line.
3. In case red ball cannot be hit by being blocked by white ball whichever white ball hits the red ball is dead and out of frame. If shooter hits just white balls and red ball is on the table the white balls are dead. If white ball prevents player from hitting red ball, white ball may be sacrificed by removing.
4. If any ball going thru bridge does not drop in pocket, said ball remains in that position until after frame.
5. If any ball jumps the table, the entire frame is dead and no points are scored.
6. When table is clear between bridge and dead-line, red ball must be spotted again and red ball counts double on any play it makes.
7. Any ball coming back over dead-line is declared dead and is out of that frame.
8. Any ball going thru bridge and re-bounding thru bridge is still in play unless said ball passes dead-line.
9. If red ball is dead, shooter must sacrifice one of his shooting balls on spot to shoot at, that is if there are no balls between bridge and dead-line.
10. If red ball is needed and white ball is holding it, opposing player removes red ball to spot, white ball counting where it goes.
11. If all balls are placed in the pockets, the score is 1000, plus score on board.
12. It is permissible for player to hit any ball going towards dead-line providing said ball is hit before reaching dead line. When all balls are shot, player adds all balls that are in pockets. Three frames for each player constitutes a game.

Kuiken Brothers at War

Kuiken Brothers faces challenges while operating during the war, including rationing and other restrictions brought about during the wartime conditions. Many of the Kuiken's served their country during the war, both domestically and abroad.

Cox'n Evan H. Kuiken, Instructor at Camp Peary, Virginia. December 1943 (first row, center).

The president, Henry A. Kuiken, presided, and called the meeting to order.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

The president reported that the new roof has been completed and that all the buildings with the exception of the molding shed, had been painted.

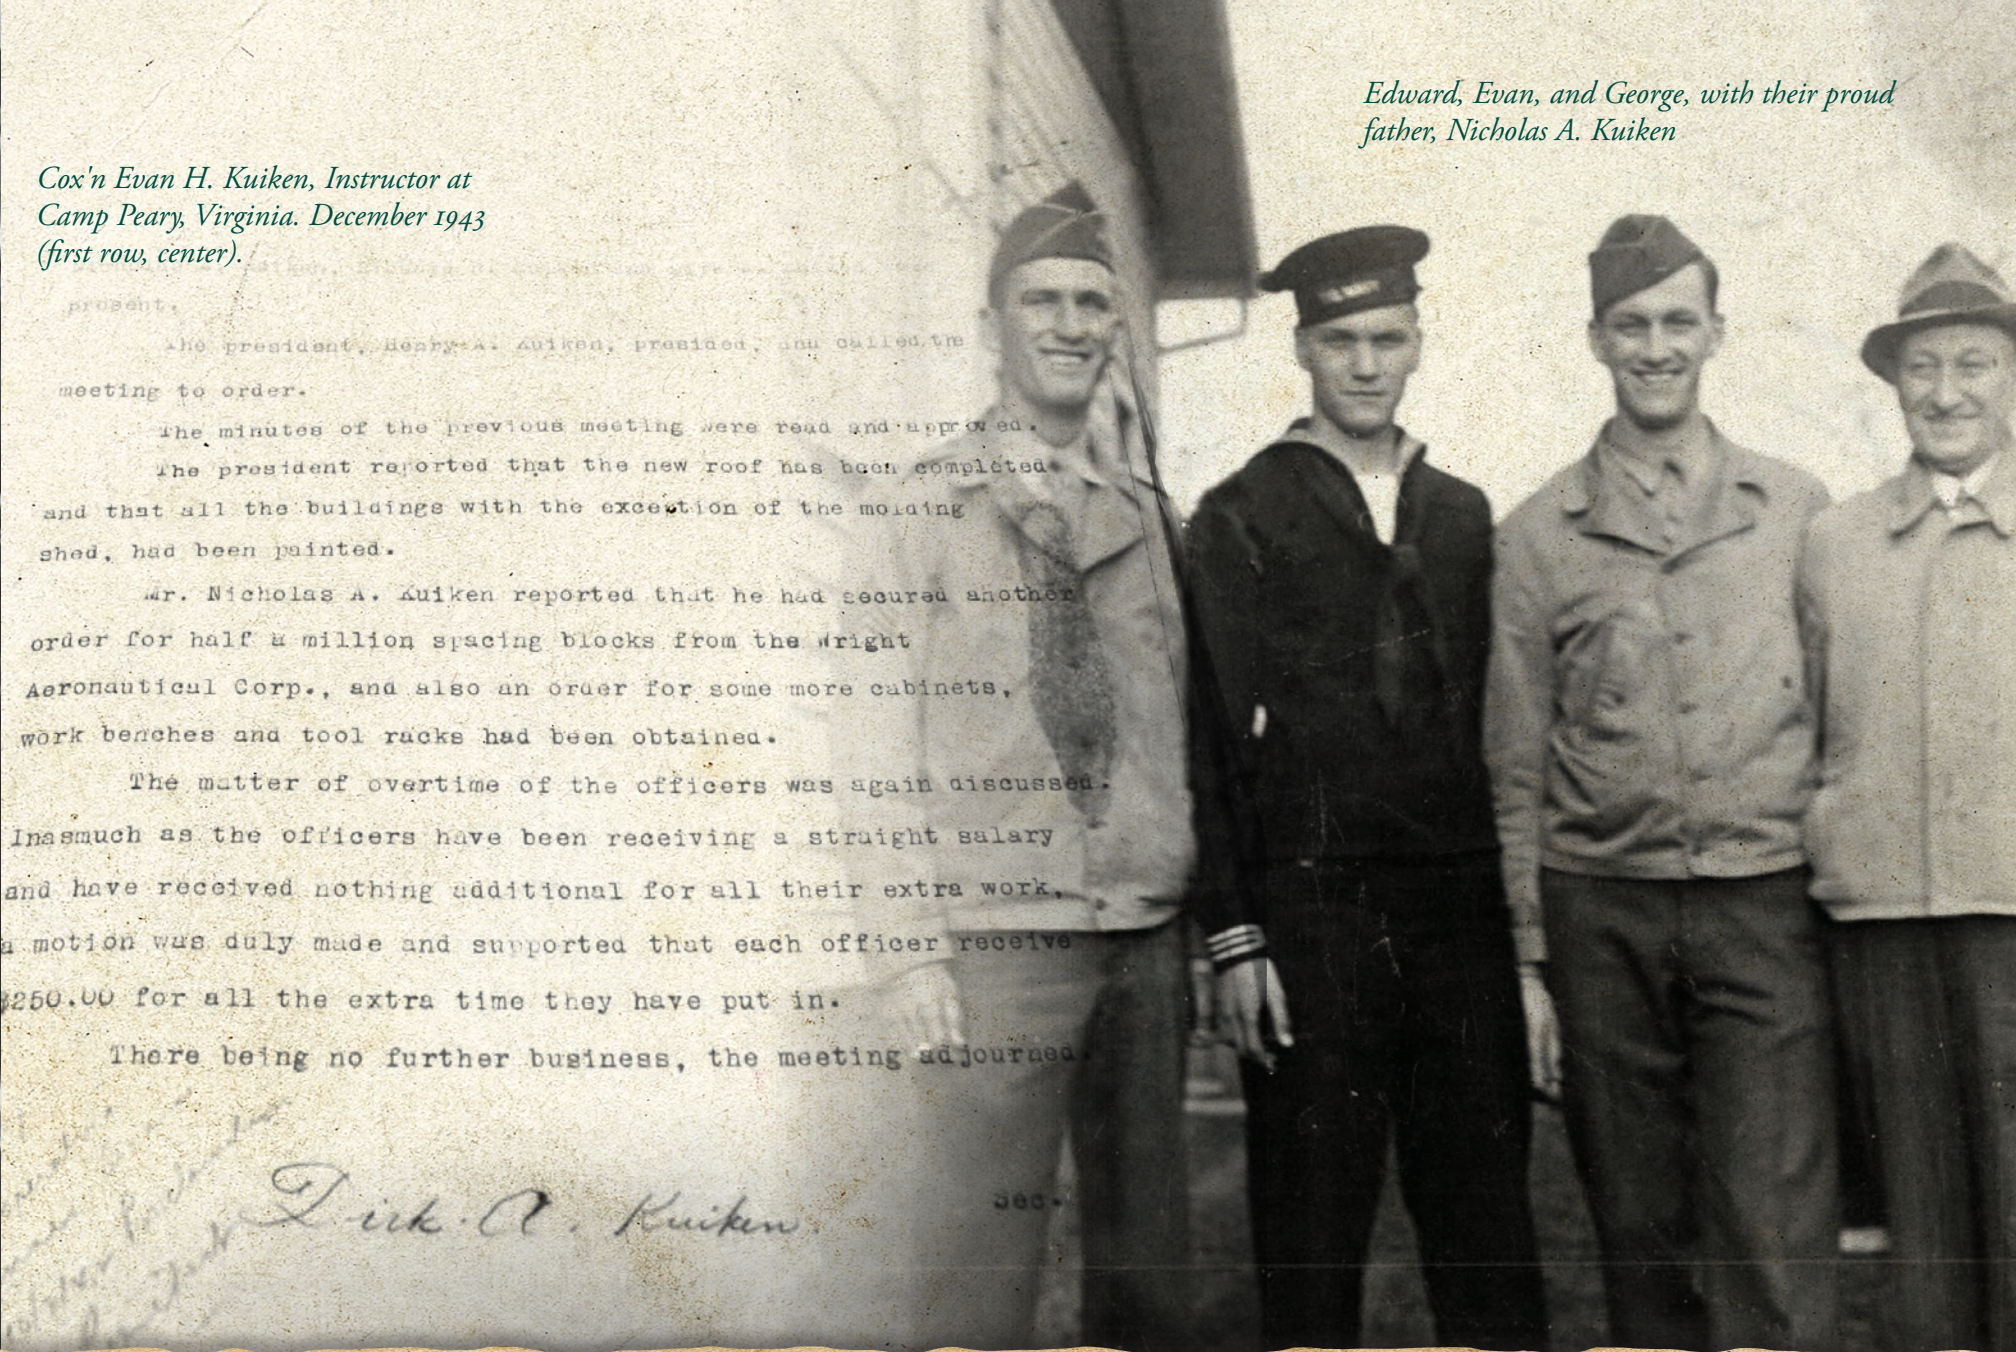

Mr. Nicholas A. Kuiken reported that he had secured another order for half a million spacing blocks from the Wright Aeronautical Corp., and also an order for some more cabinets, work benches and tool racks had been obtained.

The matter of overtime of the officers was again discussed. Inasmuch as the officers have been receiving a straight salary and have received nothing additional for all their extra work, a motion was duly made and supported that each officer receive $250.00 for all the extra time they have put in.

There being no further business, the meeting adjourned.

MEMORIAL DAY "LEST WE FORGET"

Once t'was a day,
set apart for thoughts
of men, alive now
only in our hearts.
They gave their all —
their bodies now are
dust and their weapons
now have turned to rust.
One day a year —
t'is a small amount of time
for men who died
in mud and slime.
Who "For God and Country" conquered fear Leaving all, and everything, they held
most dear.
Some did not give all — but what is the cost When an arm, leg or entire mind is lost? Yet for one day a year our mind should dwell on those who perished by shot or shell.
Times change — in place of cannon's roar t'is asked
"Who opens the store?" In place of machine guns chatter It is a cash register matter.
Instead of "Sink that barge?" We hear "Cash or Charge?" In place of "Get that S.O.B." T'is said "The manager you must see."
Is business such a greedy monster, it must grind Even sacred memorials from our mind? Must money gain to be atop the list While forgetting those who cease to exist?
Think twice, who ever in charge may be, As in your hand you hold the key. Think about the Vets some more and more ... Without them you'd have no store!
Courtesy of Peter De Vries

In honor and respect for those Americans who have served our country, Kuiken Bros.
